Dear Mr. AB:

Your manuscript entitled "Enhancing User Experience in Single Page Applications (SPAs) with Angular: Techniques in Lazy Loading, State Management, and Component Optimization" has been successfully submitted online and is presently being given full consideration for publication in the Transactions on the Web.

Your manuscript ID is TWEB-25-0002.

Please mention the above manuscript ID in all future correspondence or when calling the office for questions. If there are any changes in your street address or e-mail address, please log in to Manuscript Central at <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/tweb> and edit your user information as appropriate.

You can also view the status of your manuscript at any time by checking your Author Center after logging in to <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/tweb>.

As described on our website, any prior publication of a substantial amount of a TWEB submission should be noted in a cover letter and on the title page. The cover letter should describe the differences between the original publication and the new submission. The authors should also either include or give a pointer to a copy of the earlier publication and include a footnote on the first page indicating that the paper is an extended version of the earlier paper (s). TWEB forbids authors from submitting papers which would be under consideration simultaneously for publication in both TWEB and another copyrighted forum.

Thank you for your interest in TWEB.

Best Regards,
Ryen W. White
Editor-in-Chief, ACM Transactions on the Web

ORCID

Starting in 2021, ACM requires that all authors provide their ORCID at acceptance (and preferably at submission). To ensure a seamless process, we suggest that you ensure that your co-authors have signed up for an ORCID as soon as possible. Registering is easy and takes less than five minutes. To register, visit Register for ORCID.

ORCID provides a persistent digital identifier that distinguishes you from every other researcher and, through integration in key research workflows such as manuscript and grant submission, supports automated linkages between you and your professional activities ensuring that your work is recognized.
